

LECTURE 13:

Production planning, schedule and control

- Planning - The process of producing a specification or chart of the manufacturing operations to be performed by different functions and workstations over a particular time period.
- Schedule - Production scheduling takes account of factors such as the availability of plant and materials, customer delivery requirements, and maintenance schedules.
- Control - The control of all aspects of production according to a predetermined production plan.